Sub: Law College/Law Department having deemed/permanent status of your University not applied for extension of approval of Bar Council of India beyond the academic year 2010-2011.

Ref: Our letter sent to deemed status law colleges under your university in the month of July, 2010.

Sir/Ma’am,

Your kind attention is drawn to our earlier letter mentioned above, thereby it was informed that Law College/Law Department having deemed/permanent status of your University which have not been inspected for a continuous period of 5 years would have to apply afresh to Bar Council of India seeking its approval of affiliation on or before 31.07.2010.

It is very painful to inform you that Colleges/Department of your University or under your jurisdiction have not apply so far to the Bar Council of India in spite of Rules of Legal Education-2008 as well as communication made by the Bar Council of India in the year 2010.

This amount of violation of the Rules of Legal Education-2008 specific to the Rule-14(1) and 14(2), which are quoted below:

"14. Centres for Legal Education not to impart education without approval of Bar Council of India

(1) No Centres of Legal Education shall admit any student and impart instruction in a course of study in law for enrolment as an advocate unless the recognition of the degree of the University or the affiliation of the Centres of Legal Education, as the case may be, has been approved by the Bar Council of India after inspection of the University or Centres of Legal Education institution concerned as the case may be.

(2) An existing Centre of Legal Education shall not be competent to impart instruction in a course of study in law for enrolment as an advocate if the continuance of its affiliation is disapproved or revoked by the Bar Council of India."

Subsequently, Bar Council of India at its meeting held on 01.06.2012 also considered the matter of law colleges which have not applied for extension of approval of affiliation. After consideration, Council passed the following Resolution:

"Resolution No.53/2012

It is notified for the public that Legal Education Committee of the Bar Council of India in its meeting dated 30.04.2010 had decided that all the Centres of Legal Education (irrespective of their deemed or permanent status) will have to conform to the Legal Standards:"

Education Rules – 2008 and it was also decided that a law college/law school/institution, which has not been inspected for a continuous period of 5 years, shall have to apply afresh to the Bar Council of India and shall have to seek approval of affiliation on or before 31st July, 2010 itself. In spite of this, it appears that while 60% of such deemed universities have already applied afresh and most of them have got fresh approval as per Rules of Legal Education – 2008. But it appears that due to mistake or otherwise, some of the Institutions (List enclosed) have not yet applied for approval under Legal Education Rules – 2008. It is made clear that without getting approval under new Rules of Legal Education – 2008, it is quite illegal to impart legal education leading to degree in law. In view of the above, it is made clear that the students passed out from such colleges/universities having no approval under Rules of Legal Education – 2008 will not be eligible to be enrolled as an advocate in the State Bar Councils and would not be entitled to practice in courts."

In view of the above, in absence of extension of approval of affiliation of Law Colleges/Department of your University, the students who were admitted in the session 2011-2012 onwards and passed out from the academic year 2013-2014 from these law college/department of your university are not eligible for enrolment as advocates.

List of such Law Colleges/Department of your University is given below, which do not have approval of affiliation of the Bar Council of India from the academic year 2011-2012 in term of Rules of the Legal Education-2008 as well as communication made by the Bar Council of India in the year 2010.

You are kindly advised that those Colleges/Departments having deemed or permanent status are required to submit the application with a requisite application fee of ₹ 5,000/- and Inspection fee of ₹ 1,50,000/- per course immediately, failing which the students passed out from such colleges/department will not be eligible for enrollment as advocates.

Thanking you,

Yours sincerely,

(J. R. Shatna)
Secretary
